Lotus is a multi-purpose lounge chair equally appropriate for home or commercial space. The result of a considered design process and advanced production techniques, its small scale hides a surprisingly spacious and comfortable sit that allows for numerous positions including side sitting.

The molded foam body combines an internal steel frame with elastic webbing for comfort and support, while expertly sewn covers create a tailored appearance. The cast aluminum base features an internal return mechanism that centers the chair after sitting and additional vertical springing. The base is available in either a mirror polish or matte black paint finish.
